"One of the greatest truisms that has found its way into the newspapers of late was the report emanating from the east the other day to the effect that a shortage of beef is sure to come," said Mr. Wells last evening." In the three years that I have been located out in this country the lag cattle men of Idaho have gone out of business and the tendency that way is growing daily. The eattle men have got to give way before the sheep men out here at least. While it is pointed out that sheep eat more weeds than grass, they tramp down and kill the latter. As the range becomes restricted through this and other reasons it becomes necessary for the cattle raisers to step down and out.

"The sheep business is being overdone in Idaho and within two years I look for trouble. Men who have made money with small bunches are reaching for more by doubling their herds. They have nearly outgrown the feeding capacity of the country. Before they are through some one will get squeezed, as the consumption of mutton is right now at its highest mark in this country.

BUSINESS NOTES.

On Saturday last George Curley, the contractor, finished cutting stone at the Kearns residence on Brigham street after his saw had been running continuously night and day for a year and a haif except in the coldest weather in winter. Most of the work on the interior finishing of the beautiful building is completed, except some of the finest bed rooms that Senator and Mrs. Kearns will complete at their leisure. It is the expectation of Architect Neuhausen to have the house practically completed by the holidays and Senator Kearns is not expected to be in Salt Lake again before that time. It is his intention to go right to Washington on his arrival from Europe and remain in the capital till the holiday recess.

Ben L. Davis, the shoe man, expects to begin moving across the street Nov. 18 to the room now occupied by the Tom and Jerry clothing store at 238 Main street. Mr. Davis had secured a ten-year lease on this room, but when it came to get possession the Tom and Jerry people would not move out and the matter has been in the courts ever since. The case has just been decided. Mr. Davis says that he will remodel the entire store to fit it for his special busines.

Walter B. Wingate, who recently became a member of the New York & Utah Paper company, has just purchased a nice home for himself and family at 80 S street. The purchase was made from Mrs. Lena A. Bemis for $3,500. There is 41\(\pm\)x125 feet of ground and the house is a neat brick of seven rooms.

Architect W. E. Ware has just completed plans for a beautiful little cottage to be erected on Brigham street between Twelfth and Thirteenth for F. E. Baxter. It will contain seven rooms and will cost when complete between $3,000 and $3,500.

The bank clearings yesterday were $774,-922.02, compared with $592,857.56 for the corresponding day of last year.

MOUNTAIN LIONS EAT WILD COLTS

STOCKMEN WORRIED BY DISMAL PROSPECT FOR FEED.

Richfield, Nov. II.—Mountain lions are assisting the stockmen of southern Utah in reducing the herds of wild horses which roam the ranges. It is reported that the lions have considerably diminished the herds by devouring the coits. Young colts seem to be choice morsels for the wild beasts, and it is said that not over fifty coits escaped the lions this season on the Boulder. Thousand Lakes and Fish Lake mountains. The lions seem to prefer the colts to lambs and calves, and since there have been a great many colts born on the ranges during the past few years, the beasts of pre: have almost ceased to molest the offspring of sheep and cattle. As the lions are not much hunted and have ready access to choice food, they have been increasing in numbers rapidly, and threaten some time to become a great menace to stockmen, especially when the wild horses begin to grow scarce. Down in Kane county the horses have about deserted the haunts of the lion and are increasing so fast that the stockmen have recently decided upon their extermination. A prominent stockman just up from the south says that with this means employed, the depredations of the lions and the startying to death in hard winters, the wild horse bands of southern Utah will soon become a thing of the past.

Richfield, Nov. 10.—Judge McCarty Friday granted the petition of the Otter Creek Reservoir company to construct a can la through certain portions of land beinging to C. L. King and wife, William leave grant and wife and John A. Johnson in Plute county. This deeree issues pending the settlement of the Suite of the canal right of way. The company is required to file a bond in the sum of $1,500. The new canal is a necessity to carry the water from the east fork of the Sevier river to the reservoir, the present canal being on a mountain die of the Sevier river to the reservoir, the present canal being on a mountain side and continually breaking through. The new canal will be twenty-five feet wide at the top.

death in hard winters, the wild horse bands of southern Utah will soon become a thing of the past.

Range Eaten Away.

Sheepmen are becoming considerably worried over the condition of the ranges in southern Utah. Despite the good rains of the past summer feed is very scarce, and many sheepmen are at a loss where to take their sheep next season. This scarcity of feed is due to the close cropping of the many herds on these ranges. They have not only destroyed the ranges. They have not only destroyed the ranges. They have not only destroyed the ranges for cattle and horses; but have eaten themselves out. Grass has been nibbled down to the very roots so that much of it has been completely destroyed, and it will be years, even if left alone, before the ranges will be anything like good again. Every bit of available range has been thus cropped off, and the outlook for next season's grazing is very dark.

Many owners have encroached upon the reserve about the middle of October than herds were rushed in and they are fast cleaning out the feed whica the past season's watchfulness had allowed to get a good start.

creaning out the feed which the past season's watchfulness had allowed to get a good start. The rangers are reporting the matter to the government, and are making an effort to get the season for watching the resorve extended to the ist of December.

Several herds will be wintered this season down in the San Rafael and Green river deserts and sheared at Thompson's Springs in the spring and sold there.
Saunders & Co. of Sait Lake are now buying up lots of wethers and forwarding to the deserts.

Selling Off Cattle. Selling Off Cattle.

The selling of cattle herds because of this scarcity of feed still continues. The Brinkerhoff Brothers of Therber, Wayne county, have just disposed of their big herd of 600 or 600 head to Wilmer Thompson, formerly of Scipio, Miliard county, who now owns a big stock farm in Colorado. He will drive the cattle to his Colorado farm and has parties now out on the ranges in Garfield county rounding the stock up. The prices per head were $12 for yearlings, $16 for 2-year-olds, $18 for dry cows, and $25 for cows and calves. Several small cattle owners will probably also dispose of their stock to Mr. 7 nompson.

FOR MUSHROOMS

Richfield, Nov. 10.-Joseph Hutchinson, who was over from Torrey, Wayne counwho was over from Torrey, Wayne county, yesterday, reports that he and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Haycock recently had an experience not soon to be forgotten. Mrs. Haycock found what she supposed were mushrooms, but from the indications of poisoning which developed soon after eating them led them to be convinced they had eaten poisonous toadstools. The party were on the mountains in Garfield county and as it was impossible to get a physician's help in time to be of any avail they had to resort to such treatment as suggested itself to them. By the use of strong coffee and salt and warm water they passed the danger point and recovered. Mrs. Haycock's condition for a while was quite serious. She became delirious and for a time it was thought her case would terminate fatally.

Vernal, Nov. 7.—Vernal is having fun with Editor Hillman of the Express, who, with Editor Hillman of the Express, who, in endeavoring to convince the office girl that he had recently "gone and got married," set up a local announcing his marriage to a Miss Maud Williams of Ladore, Cal. After the local was set up and in the galley it was quietly slipped out by the wily editor, but the office girl and the devil caught on, and just before the paper went to press, slipped the tremback into the form, and the announcement was duly made. Now Editor Hillman is in a predicament as to whether he will admit the unreliability of his paper or get married in order to preserve a hard won reputation for veracity.

In the city election the convention ticket won by a heavy majority. The contest for mayor was between S. M. Browne and Lycurgus Johnson, the former winning easily. Mr. Browne has served the people in this capacity before, being the first mayor of the town. For the council, George James, S. N. Morris and T. T. Holdaway were pitted against the regular nominees of the non-partisan convention, but they were defeated by heavy majorities. The hottest contest was for marshal, but Fred Wood won handily.

The fact has come to light that a movement is assuming definite shape to have the grazing of sheep prohibited upon the forest reserve. The matter is being agitated among cattlemen and the department will be asked to take some definite steps in the matter.
